

Salute

Task:

1. You need 3 players.
2. Two players are the “soldiers” and one player is the “general”.
3. Deal half a deck to each soldier. To begin the game, both soldiers salute the general by holding one of their cards up to their forehead (they can't see the card they're holding but the other two players can).
4. The general (the only one who can see both cards) adds the two numbers together and says the sum aloud. Each soldier then takes that sum, to find the number their opponent is holding and calls out the value of the card they can't see. Whoever calls out the correct number first gets to keep both cards. Play ends when time runs out or someone wins all the cards.

Materials Needed:

- Deck of cards (face cards are worth 11, Ace = 1, no jokers)
